The PP claims additionality of the project, based on barriers due to the increase of additives and hence the reduction of the clinker content. However the project activity in the baseline situation already achieved a level of 25,6% additives without the help of CDM. The barriers described refer to the increase of additives so far, but provide no convincing arguments how further increase of the level of additives would create a substantial additional barrier.

Furthermore the PP does not provide any information on the cost savings related to the reduced use of clinker.
