

Clarification on the approved methodology AMS-III.Q version 04 regarding the requirement for recovery of waste gas/heat/pressure to be a new initiative

(Version 01)

Project activities that recover a small amount of waste energy in the baseline may apply AMS-III.Q provided that the current practice of recovering small amounts of waste energy continues during the crediting period and that there is no diversion of the baseline waste energy use, i.e. only energy that was otherwise wasted through venting to atmosphere is utilized by the project activity.
