Version 01.2 / 8 February 2012
We would like to draw attention of the CDM Executive Board to an issue related to considering subsidy issued by government agencies to promote small scale hydro power projects in establishing additionality.

As per “Clarifications on the consideration of national and/or sectoral policies and circumstances in baseline scenarios” paragraph 6, Annex 3, EB 22 (http://cdm.unfccc.int/EB/022/eb22_repan3.pdf) the Board agreed to differentiate the following two types of national and/or sectoral policies that are to be taken into account when establishing baseline scenarios:

(a) National and/or sectoral policies or regulations that give comparative advantages to more emissions-intensive technologies or fuels over less emissions-intensive technologies or fuels

(b) National and/or sectoral policies or regulations that give comparative advantages to less emissions-intensive technologies over more emissions-intensive technologies (e.g. public subsidies to promote the diffusion of renewable energy or to finance energy efficiency programs)

As per paragraph 7(b), Annex 3, EB22 - National and/or sectoral policies or regulations under paragraph 6 (b) that have been implemented since the adoption by the COP of the CDM M&P (decision 17/CP.7, 11 November 2001) need not be taken into account in developing a baseline scenario (i.e. the baseline scenario could refer to a hypothetical situation without the national and/or sectoral policies or regulation being in place.

Considering the above mentioned clarification given in paragraph 7 b) Annex 3, EB 22 and also the scenario that subsidy mechanism in India for small hydro power projects, to promote penetration of renewable energy is introduced in 2003 onwards and thus after 2001, we would like to understand from the Chair, whether the impacts of such subsidies can be exempted while carrying out the analysis for establishing additionality of small hydro power projects.

Clarification is being sought on the expressed issue. Executive Board is requested to take the matter for its kind consideration and action.
